#CodeWithHarry It would be very nice if we get a more advance playlist on web development covering mega or major projects and concepts which are very helpful in today's industry. There is a playlist I know but I think you have already covered almost every topic from basic to advance. Now its time to start from advance and take to another level. I hope it make sense. At last thank you for all your efforts because if today I am capable of writing a suggestion then its only because of you
